FRAUD
ALERT!

Numerous scams are happening all around us and prey on those who provide personal information. Please remember that RCFCU will never ask you for personal information by phone, email or text.

With 82% of the U.S. households grilling each year, there are bound to be a few mishaps. The Insurance Information Institute offers the following tips to make sure that your grilling experience is a safe and enjoyable one:

Tips for Safe Grilling

- Protect yourself. When you get ready to barbecue, it is important to protect yourself by wearing a heavy apron and an oven mitt that fits high up over your forearm.
- Gas safety. With gas grills, make sure the gas cylinder is always stored outside and away from your house. Make sure the valves are turned when you are not using them. Check regularly for leaks in the connections using a soap and water mix that will show bubbles where the gas escapes.
- Good location. Barbecue grills should be kept on a level surface away from the house, garage, landscaping, and most of all, children.
- Getting started. For charcoal grills, only use starter fluids designed for those grills, and a limited amount. Never use gasoline! If the fire is too slow, stoke it with dry kindling and add more charcoal if necessary, but don't ever add liquid fuel to re-ignite or build up a fire. You could end up with a flash fire.
- After grilling. Finally, be sure to soak the coals with water before you put them in the trash. Always remember that grills remain hot long after you are through barbecuing.
- In case of an emergency. If you do get burned, immediately run cool water over the burn for 10 – 15 minutes. You never want to put butter or a salve on burns because they will seal in the heat and just cause further damage to your skin. Of course with a serious burn, the sooner you get some medical attention the better.
