YOUR MONEY MATTER$

HOLIDAY CLOSINGS | Memorial Day - Monday, May 29th

SPRING IS HERE!

And, a great way to start off this new season is by cleaning out your room, which can become a great way to earn some extra cash.

- If you have video games you no longer play, you can sell them for some easy money.
- The same goes for old toys you no longer want. Some toys can be worth money in the far future. If you have something you want to keep but no longer want to play with, find an organized place out of the way to store it. For other unwanted items, if they're in good condition you may be able to sell them online with the help of an adult.
- If your parents, guardian, or other family members decide to have a yardsale, join them by adding some of your things to the sale.
- You can go through your closet and remove any clothes that no longer fit. If they're in good condition, there are local places that buy and sell used clothing items.
- Finally, you could always donate your unwanted items to a local thrift store. Make sure you get a receipt when you do. You can give it to your parents for a tax write off. Plus, the proceeds from a lot of local thrift stores go to good causes, such as feeding the homeless and providing shelter for those in need.
